

Mr. Al-Hadi Al-Saidi

Mr. Al-Saidi is an economic statistician and an expert in strategic planning and in statistical systems' evaluation and modernization, who has worked in several government institutions in Tunisia. Currently, he is the Director General of the Arab Institute for Training and Research in Statistics (AITRS) in Amman, Jordan, since 2019. His scope of responsibilities includes the preparation and implementation of training programs for the benefit of the Arab region in the statistical fields, provision of technical advice and preparation of economic and social studies, as well as the supervision of the publication of the AITRS' Journal of Statistical Sciences.

He has held many senior positions in Tunisia, including:

- Director General and Chairman of the Board of the Tunisian National Statistics Institute
- Director General of Studies, Planning and Information Systems at the Ministry of Education
- Director of the Studies, Planning and Programming Office at the Ministry of Education
- Chairman of the National Council for Statistics and acting Chairman of the Board of Directors for some periods
- Member of many scientific councils, boards of directors and scientific forums