

Mohamed Omar Moalim

Mohamed Omar Moalim is the Director General of the Directorate of National Statistics within the Ministry of Planning and International Cooperation.

Since relocating to Somalia, Mohamed worked with the Somali Disaster Management Agency as an IDP Profiler, and was able to produce the first government IDP profiling data in Mogadishu, covering some of the largest IDP settlements.

He also led a more comprehensive IDP profiling on a larger scale with international partners and government institutions, covering all IDP settlements in Mogadishu and Hargeisa.

Prior to this, Mohamed was the Education Liaison Officer for the borough of Slough, United Kingdom.

Mohamed holds an MA in Economic Policy and Planning, and a BA in Business Administration from Bristol Business School.
